Use And Disclosure of Reproductive Health Records

Federal law recognizes and protects the confidentiality of comprehensive reproductive health care services, including abortion care, and places additional restrictions on the use or disclosure of PHI related to reproductive health care. Reproductive health care means health care that affects the health of an individual in all matters relating to the reproductive system and to its functions and processes. This includes, but is not limited to, contraception, including emergency contraception; preconception screening and counseling; management of pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, including pregnancy screening, prenatal care, miscarriage management, treatment for preeclampsia, hypertension during pregnancy, gestational diabetes, molar or ectopic pregnancy, and pregnancy termination; fertility and infertility diagnosis and treatment, including assisted reproductive technology and its components (e.g., in vitro fertilization (IVF)); diagnosis and treatment of conditions that affect the reproductive system (e.g., perimenopause, menopause, endometriosis, adenomyosis); and other types of care, services, and supplies used for the diagnosis and treatment of conditions related to the reproductive system (e.g., mammography, pregnancy-related nutrition services, postpartum care products). The Guthrie Clinic is prohibited from using or disclosing any PHI potentially related to reproductive health care for the following activities: (i) to conduct criminal, civil or administrative investigation into a person for the mere act of seeking, obtaining, providing or facilitating reproductive health care, (ii) to impose criminal, civil or administrative penalties for the mere act of seeking, obtaining, providing or facilitating reproductive health care, or (iii) to identify a person for either of these purposes. Seeking, obtaining, providing, or facilitating reproductive health care includes, but is not limited to, any of the following: expressing interest in, using, performing, furnishing, paying for, disseminating information about, arranging, insuring, administering, authorizing, providing coverage for, approving, counseling about, assisting, or otherwise taking action to engage in reproductive health care; or attempting any of the same. Outside of these activities, The Guthrie Clinic may continue to use and disclose PHI related to reproductive health care for all other purposes described in this Notice.

The prohibition on use and disclosure of reproductive health care only applies where the relevant activity is in connection with a person seeking, obtaining, providing, or facilitating reproductive health care, and The Guthrie Clinic has reasonably determined either that:

- Reproductive health care is lawful under the law of the state in which such health care is provided under the circumstances in which it is provided. For example, if a resident of one state traveled to another state to receive reproductive health care, such as an abortion, that is lawful in the state where such health care was provided.

One Guthrie Square
Sayre, PA 18840

Notice of Privacy Practices

- The reproductive health care is protected, required, or authorized by Federal law, including the United States Constitution, under the circumstances in which such health care is provided, regardless of the state in which it is provided. For example, if use of reproductive health care, such as contraception, is protected by the Constitution.

Where reproductive health care is provided by someone other than The Guthrie Clinic, The Guthrie Clinic may presume it is lawful unless either of the following is true:

- The Guthrie Clinic has actual knowledge that reproductive health care was not lawful under the circumstances in which it was provided. For example, an individual discloses to their doctor that they obtained reproductive health care from an unlicensed person and the doctor knows that the specific reproductive health care must be provided by a licensed health care provider.
- The requestor provides information that demonstrates a substantial factual basis that the reproductive health care was not lawful under the specific circumstances in which it was provided. For example, a law enforcement official provides a health plan with evidence that the information being requested is reproductive health care that was provided by an unlicensed person where the law requires that such health care be provided by a licensed health care provider.

When The Guthrie Clinic receives request for PHI potentially related to reproductive health care for purposes of health oversight activities, judicial and administrative proceedings, law enforcement coroner and medical examiner purposes, as described above, The Guthrie Clinic will obtain a valid, signed attestation from the requestor that the use or disclosure is not for a prohibited purpose, as provided in this section. For example, if The Guthrie Clinic receives a subpoena for medical records related a civil lawsuit to which the patient is a party from an attorney, it would obtain such an attestation from the attorney before providing the records. The Guthrie Clinic is only permitted to disclose reproductive health information for law enforcement purposes where the disclosure is not subject to the prohibition above, the disclosure is required by law, and the disclosure meets all applicable conditions of HIPAA's permission to use or disclose PHI as required by law.

Use And Disclosure Of Substance Use Disorder Records Under Part 2

Federal law protects the confidentiality of substance use disorder patient records and places additional restrictions on the use or disclosure of such health information. A substance use disorder is a cluster of cognitive, behavioral, and physiological symptoms indicating that the individual continues using the substance (such as drugs or alcohol but not including tobacco or caffeine) despite significant substance-related problems such as impaired control, social impairment, risky use, and pharmacological tolerance and withdrawal. If you receive services from The Guthrie Clinic covered by such laws, The Guthrie Clinic complies with the federal Confidentiality of Substance Use Disorder Patient Records laws and regulations that protect information regarding substance use disorder diagnosis, treatment and referral for treatment. See 42 U.S.C 290dd-3 and 42 U.S.C. 290ee-3 for Federal laws and 42 CFR Part 2 for Federal regulations (collectively, "Part 2"). Additionally, if The Guthrie Clinic receives records containing information regarding substance use disorders, these records may also be protected by Part 2. Where Part 2 is applicable, The Guthrie Clinic will not disclose your substance use disorder records, that you are enrolled in a Part 2 program, or any other information that would identify you as having or having had a substance use disorder (collectively, "Part 2 Records") except in compliance with this Section.
